News Release

Walter Murray student awarded prestigious $100,000 Schulich Leader Scholarship

For immediate release: June 15, 2026 – 8:30 a.m.

A Walter Murray Collegiate student has been selected as a recipient of the 2026 Schulich Leader Scholarship. Soon-to-be graduate, Drake Jordan, will receive $100,000 to support his post-secondary studies at the University of Toronto.

Drake was selected as Walter Murray’s Schulich Leader nominee and was subsequently chosen as one of 100 Schulich Leaders across Canada. The scholarship is valued at $100,000 and is awarded to students who demonstrate academic excellence, entrepreneurial leadership, and a commitment to innovation. They must also be pursuing post-secondary studies in a STEM field—science, technology, engineering, or mathematics—at one of 20 partner universities.

“This is a truly life-changing moment for me and my family, and I could not be more excited to start my studies at the University of Toronto this fall,” says Jordan.

“Drake’s achievement is a reflection of his exceptional academic abilities, leadership qualities, and commitment to pursuing excellence,” says Walter Murray principal, Dave Fisher. “We are incredibly proud to see him recognized at the national level and know he will continue to make a positive impact as he pursues his post-secondary studies.”

“We are proud to welcome Drake as a Schulich Leader and to be part of a national network of exceptional students,” says Judy Schulich, president of The Schulich Foundation. “His entrepreneurial spirit will help shape innovation.”

The Schulich Leader Scholarships were established in 2012 by Canadian businessman and philanthropist Seymour Schulich to encourage Canada’s top students to pursue STEM education and become the next generation of innovators and leaders.
